

CHRIS MCGUIRE

Chris McGuire is a veteran comedy showrunner, writer and producer with 20+ years' experience across traditional and digital platforms. Throughout his career, Chris has worked with both established and emerging talent to bring their comedic voices to diverse audiences.

Chris has served as Executive Producer for several scripted & semi-scripted talk and sketch shows fronted by comedians, including "The Burn with Jeffrey Ross," "Not Safe with Nikki Glaser," and "Mind of Mencia." On these projects, his experience included taking shows from pitch to pick-up and supervising creative, production, field teams, budget, digital and post.

He has written for seven of the Emmy Nominated Comedy Central Roast series and was the Head Writer for the highly rated roast of Justin Bieber. His work on the roasts has allowed him to produce some of the biggest names in entertainment.

Chris helped launch two late night talk shows hosted by comedians: George Lopez (for TBS) and Arsenio Hall (for CBS Television Distribution). Later, he served as Executive Producer for the Emmy Nominated and critically acclaimed talk / cooking show Martha and Snoop's Potluck Dinner Party for VH-1. He was also part of the development team for NBC's Musical Game Show "That's My Jam."

Whether in the talk, comedy-variety, sketch, game or food spaces, Chris brings value as an experienced creative manager with an eye for fresh formats and skill with working with talent.